Subject: Microsoft Settlement: Not enough

I have read the proposed settlement, and I do not think it is appropriate in its current state. It describes no punishment for Microsoft's past illegal activities, and leaves loopholes such that the letter of the settlement may be followed while the spirit of the settlement is not. I urge you to read and consider the content at <http://www.kegel.com/remedy/>, especially Mr. Kegel's essay which thoughtfully analyzes the proposal and explains these loopholes in detail. His analysis is at <http://www.kegel.com/remedy/remedy2.html>.

By the way, I am also cosigning Mr. Kegel's petition, as described at the top of <http://www.kegel.com/remedy/letter.html>.

Sincerely,
Bill Jetzer
